

MIDTERM OVERVIEW

The following are the questions you will answer for your midterm, next week.

You will use this week to make sure you understand the questions.

Next week you will watch a movie, you will answer the questions during class.

You will bring your answers home, type them, then submit both the original and typed copy at the beginning of the following class. I will accept corrections in the typed copy you submit, but I want to make sure that the ideas are your own.

I encourage you to write your answers in point form, in English, in class and then elaborate your answers at home.

If you miss next class, you lose 30% of your final grade. Don't do it.
