

The Story of the John Tvs Fictional Universe

One day, a young blue diamond named John bursted out of a television set that was stuck in a thrift store. He was met by a dark-blue square named Flex, who came out of a Flex Seal container, and together, they became best friends, and they founded a company called John Tvs. John, being bold and courageous, decided to go to a deserted island, with turquoise sky and purple mountains, from The Realm of Fiction, a place made by mankind where fictional characters walk, talk, eat, breathe, and do other actions.

When John got to the island, he was noticed by the locals, who were casually relaxing on the island. One local named Yusuke Kitagawa asked, “Who are you?”, and John answered, “I am John, a diamond of my word. I came here through a portal on my home planet, Earth, and together, I think we can get along well.”. The locals were amazed that they were able to meet their creators, mankind. And so, John took these creatures to Earth.

There was one problem, though, on Earth, only real-life and supernatural beings and things could inhabit it, and since these creatures were not real-life, John asked his good pal BonziBUDDY, the founder of The Realm of Fiction, to establish a new town where fictional characters and other beings could coexist peacefully with each other. Bonzi agreed, and through a very rough session of globetrotting, Bonzi eventually found where to establish this new town. He found a barren place in Arizona where only animals inhabited it, and so, after running out the animals, BonziBUDDY announced that he would make a new town called Weirdtown.

A tribe on Earth called The Plagarismos created ideas that would later be deemed “original” by the masses, and they got wiped off of the Earth around 40,000 years ago. But, one of their murals still existed. It shown 4 animals, these being a mouse, a duck, a dog, and even a cat. John’s pal Bonzi decided to take this mural to Flex, who was quite skilled at science, and the murals’ inscriptions came to life, resulting in the creation of 4 characters. These characters being Workin’ Stiff, Workin’ Hard, Workin’ Lazy, and The Fat Cat. Workin’ Hard moved to Nashville, Tennessee for 15 years. Workin’ Stiff and Workin’ Lazy moved to Weirdtown, while The Fat Cat moved to New York, New York.

But when there is hope, there is also an obstacle. In 1776, the country of America was established, and a book called The Wealth of Nations was written and published. A bug named Oscar Lambert, who was from The Realm of Fiction, was a big fan of this book, and so, he founded the first ever huge company, Company Industries. The reign of Company Industries was handed down to many generations, and the current ruler is BugGuy. Unlike Oscar, BugGuy wasn't really focused on helping people, but rather focused on making as much money as possible. This proved to be problematic, as when BugGuy later hired henchmen, they didn't want to work for him, claiming that BugGuy was greedy. One henchman, Ronald McDonald, actually had the same goal as him, and so, Ronald became BugGuy's right hand man.

Meanwhile, Workin' Hard moved to Weirdtown, and Workin' Stiff and Workin' Lazy became good friends with Workin' Hard, forming an alliance. Since BugGuy was a people-watcher, he commanded Ronald to go to the Weirdtown McDonald's to trick the customers into paying more for their food. When Workin' Stiff arrived at the restaurant, he was told by Ronald that a McChicken sandwich costed $39. This made Workin' Stiff angry, and so, Workin' Stiff and Ronald became enemies.

Also on Earth, Beanie Babies and other plush animals were given a conscience by John himself, who became a hand used to guide the plushies, and he had given them new lives. Jabber and Rainbow, a parrot and a chameleon, gained new names. Jabber became Oddify, and Rainbow became General 64. The other plushies gained new names and identities, too, but this was only a personal choice for them.

The Skylanders were sent from Skylands, a place where many mythological and pop-culture inspired creatures lived. Skylands was also a place in The Realm of Fiction, so John purchased their figures with Flex, and the Skylanders are now living a peaceful life on Earth as material possessions.

All of these elements created John Tvs, a real-life channel on YouTube created by John and Flex. John mainly runs the channel with his fictional pals from Weirdtown, while Flex educates people on the supernatural, which can only be perceived by those who want to pursue it. Today, Workin' Stiff, Workin' Hard, Workin' Lazy, and most of the other fictional pals of John Tvs are still trying to fight the greed of BugGuy and the rest of Company Industries.

The End!