Mentors are one of the most valuable resources you could tap into as a nurse. As you transition into a new role as a manager, faculty person or advanced practice RN, a mentor can ease this transition and accelerate your career success.

During this webinar, we'll give you the strategies and insight you need to find a knowledgeable and trusted mentor during critically important career transitions. Topics include:

- What to look for in a mentor based on your own strengths and weaknesses and your desired personal brand
- Unique aspects of a mentoring relationship during a role transition
- Sources of potential mentors in your new role and chosen career path
- Four key strategies for selecting the perfect mentor for your transition into a new role

Who Should Attend: RNs with between 5 and 14 years of nursing tenure who are transitioning into a new role in education, advanced practice or a management position
