

New international partnership between Il Brevetto Magazine and The Union Of Arabian Academics

The Union Of Arabian Academics has signed an international partnership with the magazine "The Patent" to promote the culture of innovation and give visibility to the brightest minds of the African continent.

Supporting young inventors, encouraging matching between stakeholders and presenting the most innovative prototypes to the general public: these are the objectives of the partnership signed between "The Patent" and The Union of Arabian Academics. Thanks to this agreement, the magazine will become the privileged channel for the dissemination and promotion of the activities promoted and organized by The Union of Arabian Academics. The Union of Arabian Academics is an organization in Yemen that aims to support, promote and encourage the community of Asian inventors and entrepreneurs facing financial difficulties. To achieve these goals, The Union Of Arabian Academics organizes seminars, workshops and conferences that aim to provide all the technological, financial and legislative skills needed to "become an inventor". Its members are women and men, scientists, researchers, academics, inventors, innovators and Arab creators, individuals and institutions within a spatial geographical framework and its administrative boundaries in the map of the geopolitics of the Arab world. Its purpose is to exchange views, ideas and experiences among members in order to unify ideas and performance in the themes, methodology and objectives of Arab scientific research and to develop its trends and fields and work to contribute to the application of its results in order to participate in the construction and implementation of modern Arab strategy. It also supports and adopts inventors, researchers, creators and innovators, and takes advantage of these innovations and services and uses them in various sectors for economic development.

The inventions, patents and activities promoted by The Union Of Arabian Academics will be previewed on the pages of "The Patent" and on the website www.thepatent.news.. The Union of Arabian Academics' projects are strongly in tune with the spirit of the magazine and it has been decided to stipulate a Memorandum of Understanding for the promotion of activities of common interest. In detail, the parties are committed to a mutual exchange of visibility with the aim of spreading the culture of innovation and promoting access to information. Members of The Union Of Arabian Academics will be entitled to a discount for the purchase of the magazine and the association undertakes to report stories, projects, inventions and patents worthy of interest that will be the subject of in-depth analysis in the magazine and online.

The material to be published will be subject to the prior authorization of the magazine's management and must be sent within a deadline agreed between the parties. The management of the magazine also reserves the right not to publish the content received, giving reasons for its decision and setting a reasonable deadline to allow changes and/or additions.

The Union Of Arabian Academics and "The Patent" are confident that this partnership will help advance the inventor community and the world of innovation.

Further information is available on the official website of The Union Of Arabian Academics.